Coon Rapids, Minnesota. – June 1, 2015 – Industrial Door Company, Inc. D.B.A Industrial Spring Company and Holmes Manufacturing is pleased to announce a new iPhone application for spring engineering.

Available today, the application industrial-spring-company offers engineering and converting of garage door springs. This application allows those in the garage door industry to quickly configure torsion, extension and rolling steel door spring applications. We have released it as a free downloadable application within the iTunes store.

The app for the iPhone and iPad is considered phase one of four phases. We are in process of finalizing a web based system for desktops, an Android version and a Spanish translated application. All are expected to be released by late 2015.

Industrial Spring and Holmes Manufacturing currently has this application available through iTunes at industrial-spring-company.
